FOREWORD.

The Beta of Illinois chapter of Phi Beta Kappa has completed its first decade of life. Its record so far is distinctly creditable. Its standard of membership has been kept high. That membership, when won, has been greatly prized. The shifting of residence has made the compilation of the address list difficult. There may be many errors although much effort has been made to secure accuracy. The secretary will welcome corrections. He is under obligations to the Secretary of the United Chapters, Mr. Oscar M. Voorhees, for many courtesies. Certain published accounts of the Phi Beta Kappa have been drawn upon for information and suggestions.⁽¹⁾ For the use of several of the cuts of badges he is indebted to the kindness of Mr. Edward R. Roehm, manufacturer of Phi Beta Kappa badges, 16 John R. St., Detroit, Michigan. The publication of this booklet is by authority of the chapter.

HISTORICAL SKETCH.

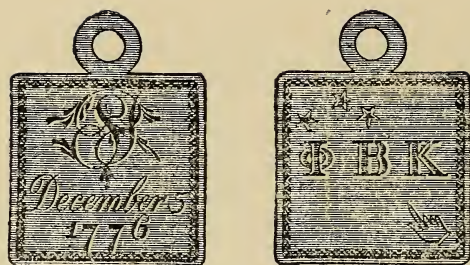

THE FOUNDING OF THE PHI BETA KAPPA SOCIETY.

The Phi Beta Kappa Society was founded at the Royal College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia, December 5, 1776, by John Heath, Thomas Smith, Richard Booker, Armistead Smith and John Jones. Tradition asserts that the first meeting was held in the Apollo room of the Raleigh Tavern, where Patrick Henry made his great speech. The first officers were: John Heath, President; Richard Booker, Treasurer; and Thomas Smith, Secretary. The original records of the society are published in The William and Mary College Quarterly for April 1896 (pp. 213-244), and after a list of forty-nine members "who have been initiated into the S. P. alias Φ B K Society," the quaint record reads:

"On Thursday, the 5th of December, in the year of our Lord God one thousand seven hundred and seventy-six, and the first of the Commonwealth, a happy spirit and resolution of attaining the important ends of Society entering the minds of John Heath, Thomas Smith, Richard Booker, Armstd. Smith, and John Jones, and afterward seconded by others, prevailed, and was accordingly ratified.

And for the better establishment and sanctitude of our unanimity, a square silver medal was agreed on and instituted, engraved on the one side with S. P., the initials of the Latin S—— P——, and on the other, agreeable to the former, with the Greek initials of Φ B K, and an index imparting a philosophical design, extended to the three stars, a part of the planetary orb, distinguished."

THE FIRST DESIGN FOR THE BADGE.

On the 5th of January, 1777, a meeting was held to adopt a mode of initiation and plan for better security. The record continues:

"And first in corporation, an oath of fidelity being considered as the strongest preservative, an initiation was accordingly resolved upon and instituted as follows:

I, A. B., do swear on the holy Evangelists of Almighty God, or otherwise, as calling the Supreme Being to attest this my oath, declaring that I will, with all my possible efforts, endeavor to prove true, just, and deeply attached to this our growing fraternity; in keeping, holding, and preserving all secrets that pertain to my duty, and for the promotion and advancement of its internal welfare."

On the 1st of March, 1777, a set of by-laws was adopted which declared that the Deity should be invoked in every design or attempt, great or small; provided for a badge of membership to be worn by every one after initiation; limited membership to collegians over sixteen years of age and unanimously elected; provided for regular meetings, for the programme, for the regulation of conduct and the method of procedure, and for fines for non-attendance; and arranged other matters connected with the society.

At subsequent meetings there were literary exercises consisting of declamations on subjects of interest. The initiation fee, originally 6s., was raised to five dollars, and fines were quite common and heavy, on September 23d, 1780, for example, Joshua Cabell being fined $20.00 for non-attendance on the evening he was appointed to declaim, and Messrs. Swan, Lee, Washington, Madison and Nivison, $15.00 for being absent on evenings when disengaged.

The anniversary of the founding of the society was observed regularly at the Raleigh tavern, where "the night was spent in Jollity and Mirth." The rule limiting membership to collegians was abrogated, December 10th, 1778. On May 4th, 1779, the propriety of extending the influence of the society by establishing branches was discussed, and after some weeks a form of charter was adopted, and Beta, Gamma and Delta chapters were provided for by charters granted to members apparently for the purpose of starting branches in nearby parts of Virginia. The Epsilon was voted to Elisha Parmale on December 4, 1779, to be used at Harvard, and five days later the Zeta was voted him for use at Yale. In March, 1780, the Eta was granted for a chapter in Richmond, and in May the Theta for a branch in Westmoreland. Expansion then ceased and on January 6, 1781, in the excitement of that year in Virginia, it seemed best to close up the affairs of the society. It is probable that Phi Beta Kappa would have ceased to exist had it not been for the two charters granted to Elisha Parmale for Harvard and Yale.

THE SOCIETY AND ITS EARLY MEMBERS.

“Just fifty men became members of the society during the four years of its life at William and Mary, and during that brief period they wrought out all the essential features of the Greek-letter fraternity and so incorporated them in their laws and traditions that they have strongly influenced fraternity practice in all subsequent years.

Thus they had their badge or medal, which from the first contained the date of the organization; the initials of the Latin and Greek mottoes; and the index pointing to the stars as the symbol of high aspirations. They had a constitution, a form of initiation with its “Oath of Fidelity,” a grip, a seal, and society colors. They held regular meetings for business and literary purposes, and from the first observed the anniversaries of the organization with social functions, which absent members were urged to attend. They magnified the term “fraternity” and the bond of brotherhood, and soon began to discuss the question of expansion. As a result, charters were granted for branches at Harvard and Yale, they being designated the Alphas of their respective states. Full and free correspondence between the various branches was to take the place of the fraternity conventions and publications of to-day. Thus it is seen that every essential idea of the college Greek-letter fraternity was developed in the early days of this unique organization.

The men who made the Phi Beta Kappa are as worthy of study as the organization itself, for they

Resolved that a second Charter be granted to our Brother Mr Elisha Parmeli for establishing a Meeting of the same in the College of New Haven in Connecticut, to be of the same Rank, to have the same Powers, and to enjoy the same Privileges with that which he is empowered to give in the University of Cambridge. The next day the 10th the adjournment took place immediately began to distinguish themselves in the public life of their time. More than one-fourth of them served in the patriot army, and nearly one-third of them became members of the Virginia legislature. There were enough of them in the convention of 1788, which ratified the Constitution of the United States, on the part of Virginia, to hold the balance of power and to determine the issue for ratification. From their number men were chosen to the Continental Congress and the Congress of the United States. One was clerk of the House of Representatives from its organization, and also Librarian of Congress. Two were esteemed judges of the highest court of Virginia; for a time two were United States Senators, one representing his native state and the other Kentucky, and for many years two others sat side by side as members of the Supreme Court of the United States, one of these being John Marshall, the Chief Justice. Thus, from the first, Phi Beta Kappa has been noted for its distinguished members."⁽²⁾

THE DEVELOPMENT AND GROWTH OF THE SOCIETY.

Mr. Parmale established the Yale chapter in 1780 and the Harvard in 1781 and these joined in starting one at Dartmouth in 1787. These three granted a charter to Union in 1817, and between that date and 1878 eighteen other branches were established.

(2) THE PHI BETA KAPPA, PAST AND PRESENT. By Oscar M. Voorhees. Phi Beta Kappa Publications, New Series, No. 7.

“Down to 1881, all of the chapters seem to have possessed the following characteristics, viz., the delivery of an oration and poem in public at commencement time, and the holding of a business meeting in private, where the officers and members for the ensuing year were chosen, the former being graduates and the latter the best scholars of the incoming senior class.” (Baird.)

In 1881 when the Harvard chapter celebrated its centennial, each of the twenty-three chapters was invited to send delegates with power to represent the chapter in a convention. At the meeting held at Cambridge, June 30, 1881, twelve chapters were represented by twenty-nine delegates. Nothing was done until a second meeting in New York, October 18, 1881, at which time the creation of a National Council and the adoption of a constitution were recommended. At a third meeting, at Saratoga Springs, September 6 and 7, 1882, the constitution was adopted, and since that time affairs have been managed by the organization known as the “United Chapters of the Phi Beta Kappa Society.” The roll of chapters January 1, 1909, is as follows:⁽³⁾

THE BADGE AND COLORS.

The badge of the society consists of a gold key engraved on one side with the Greek initials of the name, the date of founding of the original chapter, and a hand pointing to a cluster of stars. On the other side are the Latin initials "S. P." and sometimes the name, college, and class, or date of initiation of the owner. The Greek letters stand for the motto of the society [Φιλοσοφία Βίου Κυβερνήτης], usually translated "Philosophy the guide of Life." The number and meaning of the stars are various. The original badge had three stars on it. The New York chapters took the number of stars that indicated their distance from the Alpha. Two, three, five, six, seven, nine, ten and thirteen are used by different chapters with various significance. The meaning of "S. P." has been variously interpreted as Societas Philosophiae, Societas Philosophica, Societatis Particeps, Societatum Princeps, Societas Philosophorum, Signum Principium, Salus Patriae, Scientia et Prudentia, Scientia et Philosophia. The original records indicate that these letters represented an alternative name of the Society. Investigations by Dean E. A. Birge of the University of Wisconsin seem to show that one of the first two interpretations given above is the probable correct wording.

THE STANDARD BADGE.

The colors of the society are pink and blue, although there is authentic evidence of pink and green as perhaps the original colors used.

THE ADMISSION OF WOMEN.

“In this respect Phi Beta Kappa is absolutely unique among Greek-letter fraternities. It was not of set purpose that the society thus broadened its ideas respecting membership. It is true that the original charters contained the bold statements that “it is repugnant to the liberal principles of societies that they should be confined to any place, men, or description of men, and as the same should be extended to the wise and virtuous of every degree and every country;” —but it is scarcely possible that the founders imagined that women would sometimes be included among the “wise and virtuous” to whom membership should be extended. However, as scholarship came to be the chief requisite, and as the privilege of pursuings full collegiate courses was granted to women, it was only a matter of time when their eligibility should be recognized, and they be admitted as a matter of right, not of concession. The problem was first faced by the Alpha chapter of Vermont at the University when, in 1875, two women attained the honor grade. As at the first appearance of woman it required a deep sleep on the part of man to prepare him to receive his helpmate, so the Vermont chapter slept over the proposition, and the next day accorded the women the welcome to which they were rightfully entitled. The issue once decided, other chapters had less difficulty in adapting their practice to the changed conditions. In the Cornell chapter, which was organized in 1883, no restrictions as to sex have ever prevailed. As co-education has become established in some Eastern and practically all Western institutions, a large proportion of the chapters now admit women. Chapters also exist in five colleges for women, Vassar being the first of the class to win the coveted honor. Her charter was granted in 1889. The Columbia and Western Reserve chapters have established a separate section for the students in the women's colleges affiliated with the respective universities. At the recent Council, President Mary E. Woolley, of Mt. Holyoke, was chosen a member of the Senate. Phi Beta Kappa has eliminated all fortuitous distinctions, such as race, color, creed, and sex, and selects its members primarily on the basis of scholarship. It is essentially democratic, while constantly recognizing the aristocracy of intellectual acquirements. It thus enjoys the proud distinction of being, among American educational institutions, the chief "conservator and rewarder of scholastic attainments."⁽⁴⁾

CONSTITUTION.

ARTICLE I.

COMPOSITION OF THE NATIONAL COUNCIL.

The National Council of the Phi Beta Kappa Society shall consist of the Senators hereinafter spoken of, and of delegates from the several Chapters of the Society. Each Chapter shall be entitled to send three delegates, who shall be graduates of at least five years' standing and members of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, but not necessarily of the Chapter by which they are chosen.

ARTICLE II.

THE SENATE.

The Senate shall originally consist of twenty Senators, chosen by the delegates at the first session of the National Council, from the Society at large. These shall be divided into two classes, whose terms of office shall expire at the adjournment of alternate regular sessions of the National Council. At every subsequent regular session the places of the outgoing class shall be filled by election as follows: On the day preceding the first day of each regular session of the National Council, the Senate shall meet, and shall nominate fifteen candidates in addition to the members of the outgoing class for the ten vacant seats, and also two candidates for the unexpired terms of each Senator who may have died or resigned since the last regular session. Other persons not nominated by the Senate may be presented as candidates at the time of the election. Of every ten members whose term of office shall expire, one may be elected by the Council Senator for life. In every election of Senators a majority of the votes cast shall be required to elect, and in such elections the outgoing Senators shall have no vote. The Senate may fill vacancies in its own body till the next meeting of the National Council.

ARTICLE III.

OFFICERS OF THE NATIONAL COUNCIL.

The officers of the National Council shall be a President, a Vice-President, a Secretary, and a Treasurer, and such others as may be found necessary from time to time. The President shall be chosen from among the Senators.

ARTICLE IV.

SESSIONS AND FUNCTIONS OF THE COUNCIL.

The National Council shall meet every third year at such place and time as shall have been determined by the officers of the United Chapters, and shall proceed at once to the election first of its officers and next of the Senators. The National Council shall make such rules as may be found necessary for the carrying out of any provision of this Constitution.

ARTICLE V.

THE SENATE AND ITS FUNCTIONS.

During the sessions of the National Council the Senate shall have no separate existence, but its members shall take their places with the delegates as members of the National Council, voting with the delegates, as well upon all other matters as upon the election of Officers and Senators, except as provided in Article II. When the National Council is not in session the Senate shall constitute an independent body, charged with the duty of representing the Phi Beta Kappa Society and speaking in its name, and exercising, in addition, the functions of a permanent Executive Committee of the National Council. It shall hold its meetings at such times and places as it shall determine, being first called together by that Senator, who, at the original election of the Senate, shall have been elected by the largest number of votes. It shall recommend candidates for election as Senators. It shall also have power to call an extra session of the National Council. It shall furthermore prepare and recommend to the consideration of the National Council such matters as it may deem proper. It shall transmit its lists of candidates and of matters recommended for discussion, by the hands of the Secretary, to the presiding Officer of the National Council, immediately upon its organization being completed. It shall also transmit, in the same manner, to the National Council a report of its doings between the sessions of the Council. Nothing herein shall be so construed as to derogate from the right of the National Council to appoint Committees to sit between sessions, independently of the Senate, and to report at the next session.

ARTICLE VI. NEW CHARTERS.

Applications for charters shall, in all cases, be made to the Senate, at least six months before the regular session of the National Council; the Senate shall at once notify all the Chapters of such applications, and such applications shall be reported to the National Council with the recommendation of the Senate at the next meeting of the Council, and shall be passed upon by the Council, which shall have exclusive power to grant charters. But no charters shall be issued without the consent of delegations representing a majority of the chapters.

ARTICLE VII.

BY-LAWS AND RULES OF ORDER.

The National Council at any of its sessions, and the Senate at any time, may respectively make such By-Laws and Rules of Order as may be thought expedient for their use, provided the same be not inconsistent with any of the provisions of this Constitution. A quorum of the National Council shall consist of delegates from a majority of the chapters and not fewer than three Senators; the Senate shall determine the number which shall constitute its quorum. (The present number is five.)

ARTICLE VIII.

RIGHTS OF CHAPTERS.

Nothing contained in this constitution shall be construed as empowering the Senate or the National Council to restrict or abridge the rights or privileges now exercised by chapters, except as expressly provided herein.

ARTICLE IX.

AMENDMENTS TO THIS CONSTITUTION.

No change shall be made in this Constitution unless the same shall have been proposed at the session of the National Council next preceding the session at which the proposed change is voted for; and no vote shall be had upon any such proposed change except at a stated hour previously ordered by the meeting,—and no amendment shall be made without the concurrence of the delegations of two-thirds of the Chapters represented in the Council.

ARTICLE X.

ADOPTION OF THE CONSTITUTION.

This Constitution shall take effect when ratified by fourteen Chapters. (Sixteen Chapters ratified it before July, 1883.)

BY-LAWS.

I.

ELECTIONS AND OFFICERS.

All elections shall be by ballot. The President shall preside over the meetings of the Council. In his absence the Vice-President shall perform his duties. When both are absent a president pro tempore shall be chosen viva voce. The Secretary shall keep the records of the Council, conduct its correspondence, and send to the Senate and to each chapter a certified report of the proceedings of each session. The Treasurer shall collect and disburse all funds of the Council, and report at each session thereof. (At the Council of 1892, the treasurer requested that the financial report be submitted to an auditor appointed by the president after its presentation.)

II.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

1. Calling the Roll.
2. Reading the minutes.
3. Reports of the officers.
4. Communication from the Senate on nominations.
5. Election of officers.
6. Election of senators.
7. Communication from the Senate on new chapters and other matters.
8. Miscellaneous business.

III.

VOTING.

In all other cases not otherwise provided for by the Constitution each Senator and delegate present shall be entitled to cast one vote. (In establishing new chapters the Constitution requires a vote by delegations, each delegation having one vote.)

IV.

ASSESSMENTS.

Each chapter shall pay to the Treasurer a triennial assessment of ten dollars. (The Council of 1883 voted that the first assessment should be due in 1884. Each successive assessment becoming due in periods of three years from that time—1887, 1890, 1893, 1896, and so on.)

V.

PROCEDURE.

The proceedings of the Council, in all cases not provided for in the constitution, or the by-laws, shall conform to the rules laid down in Cushing's Manual.

VI.

ENDORSEMENT OF NEW CHAPTERS.

All applications for future charters shall have the endorsement of at least five existing chapters prior to presentation to the Senate. No charter granted on or after September 12, 1901, shall be issued until those applying for the same have paid to the Treasurer of the National Council $50 as a franchise fee.

VII.

AMENDMENTS.

These by-laws, or any of them, may be suspended, altered or amended at any meeting of the Council by a two-thirds vote of the members of the Council present and voting.

THE FOUNDING OF THE BETA OF ILLINOIS CHAPTER.

In the spring of 1897 Dean Harry Pratt Judson entered into correspondence with Mr. E. B. Parsons of Williamstown, Massachusetts, the secretary of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, relative to securing a charter for a chapter at the University of Chicago. Under his direction a petition was framed and presented to the Senate of the society at a meeting held in the Library of the See House, 29 Lafayette Place, New York City, at three o'clock, Wednesday, March 2, 1898, Bishop Potter, president of the United Chapters, presiding. On March 17, 1898, notice was sent to all chapters of applications for charters from fifteen institutions, among them the University of Chicago. On Wednesday, September 7, 1898, the National Council of Phi Beta Kappa met in the room of the Court of Appeals, Convention Hall, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., at 10 o'clock in the morning, and at this meeting the petition from the University of Chicago was granted and the following charter voted:

CHARTER OF PHI BETA KAPPA UNITED CHAPTERS.

To William Rainey Harper, Harry Pratt Judson, Benjamin S. Terry, Eliakim Hastings Moore, Thomas Chrowder Chamberlin, John Uric Nef, Albert Harris Tolman, William Gardner Hale, Albion Woodbury Small, Paul Shorey, Brethren of the Phi Beta Kappa, Greeting:

Whereas the National Council of the United Chapters of the Phi Beta Kappa Society has by resolution duly adopted on the 7th day of September 1898, decreed the establishment of a chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa in connection with the University of Chicago at Chicago, Illinois, and has directed the Senate by the President and Secretary to issue a charter in the name of the National Council: Now, therefore, by virtue of the aforesaid act of the Council and the authority delegated to us, we do hereby incorporate and establish you and such others as you may hereafter elect and associate with yourselves, in conformity to the law of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, into a separate and subordinate branch of said society to be known and called the Beta Chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa in the state of Illinois; hereby granting you and your successors all the powers, privileges, and benefits thereunto appertaining, in as full and ample a measure as the brethren of the other and existing chapters enjoy; at the same time enjoining upon you in the organization and conduct of the new chapter, and as a condition upon which this charter is granted, strict compliance with the Constitution of the United Chapters and the Model Constitution herewith transmitted to you.

In witness whereof the said Senate has caused the seal of the United Chapters of the Phi Beta Kappa to be affixed hereto, with the signatures of the President and Secretary.

JOHN A. De REMER,
President.

E. B. PARSONS,
Secretary.

On the receipt of this charter, meetings were held in the Assembly Hall, Haskell Oriental Museum on April 4, June 2, and June 9, 1899, at which a local organization was effected, a constitution and by laws adopted, a list of recommendations for membership presented, and plans formulated for the public inauguration of the chapter. This occurred in Kent Theater, Saturday, July 1, 1899, at 10:30 a. m., the programme being as follows:

CHAPTER MEMBERSHIP.

The rules regarding membership up to April 1, 1909, were as follows:

1. Charter and Constituent Membership: The Charter was issued September 7, 1898, to William Rainey Harper, Harry Pratt Judson, Benjamin S. Terry, Eliakim Hastings Moore, Thomas Chrowder Chamberlin, John Ulric Nef, Albert Harris Tolman, William Gardner Hale, Albion Woodbury Small, and Paul Shorey.

At the time of organization it was agreed that all members of the Phi Beta Kappa connected with the University as members of the Board of Trustees, members of the Faculties, or as students in the Graduate Schools should be considered members of the Beta of Illinois Chapter.

2. Undergraduate Membership: Under the Constitution of the Chapter the following classes of students are eligible to membership:

(1) Regular undergraduate students under the Faculties of Arts, Literature, and Science, (a) who are in residence during the quarter in which the election is held, (b) who at that time have been in residence at the University of Chicago at least six full quarters (including the current quarter), (c) who have not less than twenty-four majors' credit on the Recorder's books, (d) who for their entire course have a scholarship rank of not less than A— — and (e) in whose case there is no reason to think they will fall below that rank during the current quarter.

(2) Regular undergraduate students under the care of the Faculties of Arts, Literature, and Science, (a) who are in residence during the quarter in which the election is held, (b) who have not less than thirty-three majors' credit upon the Recorder's books, (c) who at the time of the election have been in residence at the University of Chicago at least six full quarters (including the current quarter), and who have for the entire course an average rank of not less than A— —, or who have been in residence at the University of Chicago not less than nine full quarters, and have for the entire course an average rank of not less than B+ +, and (d) in whose case there is no reason to think they will fall below that rank during the current quarter.

3. Retroactive Membership: Under the Constitution, Bachelors of Arts, Philosophy or Science who graduated between Oct. 1, 1892, and the date of the establishment of the Chapter, and who at the time of graduation conformed to the requirements given above, were made eligible to membership. (See list elected June 2, 1899.) Provision was also made for the valedictorian and the salutatorian of the several classes which graduated from the old University of Chicago.

4. Honorary Membership: The Constitution also provides for the election of honorary members. Not more than two may be chosen in a given year, and in each case the specific reasons for selection are to be clearly indicated.
